Moreover, a history is being written of a culture of poverty, which, except for a few poets, is absent in American poetry.—Gary Soto, San Francisco Chronicle

Immigrants in Our Own Land & Selected Early Poems is a new, expanded edition of Jimmy Santiago Baca's best-selling first book of poetry (originally published by Louisiana State University Press in 1979). But most of us didn't finish high school. But it's no different here. We came here to get away from false promises, from dictators in our neighborhoods, who wore blue suits and broke our doors down when they wanted, arrested us when they felt like, swinging clubs and shooting guns as they pleased. At the gates we are given new papers, our old clothes are taken and we are given overalls like mechanics wear. In "Immigrants in Our Own Land," what similarities can be found between the speaker's life in prison and his life before? (4-5 sentences) 3. (6-7 sentences) 4. The administration says this is right, no mixing of cultures, let them stay apart, like in the old neighborhoods we came from. Our expectations are high: in the old world, they talked about rehabilitation, about being able to finish school, and learning an extra good trade. Why does Baca use this term when referring to the prisoners? Across the way Joey is sticking his hands through the bars to hand Felipe a cigarette, men are hollering back and forth cell to cell, saying their sinks don't work, or somebody downstairs hollers angrily about a toilet overflowing, or that the heaters don't work. We take tests. Some of the younger ones will become gangsters. 03/04/2021 Client: muhammad11 Deadline: 2 Day I'm trying to learn for my History class and I'm stuck. Some will die and others will go on living without a soul, a future, or a reason to live. Please respond to the following questions: Jimmy Santiago Baca 1. I ask Coyote next door to shoot me over a little more soap to finish my laundry, or its affiliates What makes this story [Martin] succeed is its honesty, a brutal honesty, as well as Baca's original imagery and the passion of his writing. I look down and see new immigrants coming in, mattresses rolled up and on their shoulders, new haircuts and brogan boots, looking around, each with a dream in their heart, thinking they'll get a chance to change their lives. The voice of immigrants will be familiar to readers of the widely praised Martin & Meditations on the South Valley and Black Mesa Poems (New Directions, 1987 and 1989), but the territory may not be. ("Immigrants in Our Own Land") What is the setting of this poem? "I asked Ezra Pound for 'career advice,'" Laughlin recalled. We pass them as they stand around idle, leaning on shovels and rakes or against walls. Most of the poems in this collection were written while the author was in prison, where he taught himself to read and write. "Immigrants in Our Own Land" by Jimmy Santiago Baca, from Immigrants in Our Own Land. Can you help? Copyright © 1977, 1979, 1981, 1982, 1990 by Jimmy Santiago Baca. Some will make it out of here with hate in their eyes, but so very few make it out of here as human as they came in, they leave wondering what good they are now as they look at their hands so long away from their tools, as they look at themselves, so long gone from their families, so long gone from life itself, so many things have changed. A number of poems from early, now unavailable chapbooks have also been included so that the reader can at last have an overview of Baca's remarkable literary development. Please respond to the following questions: Jimmy Santiago Baca 1. Use specific examples from the poem. (4-5 sentences) 2. But in the end, some will just sit around talking about how good the old world was. They used common sense like scholars use glasses and books to reach the world. Then we gather in another room where counselors orient us to the new land we will now live in. Others were good with their heads. What are these parallels? Our lives don't get better, we go down quick. We are given shots and doctors ask questions. Moreover, a history is being written of a culture of poverty, which, except for a few poets, is absent in American poetry.—Gary Soto, San Francisco ChronicleKeep up to date with New DirectionsNew Directions was founded in 1936, when James Laughlin (1914-1997), then a twenty-two-year-old Harvard sophomore, issued the first of the New Directions anthologies. But right away we are sent to work as dishwashers, to work in fields for three cents an hour. "He had been seeing my poems for months and had ruled them hopeless. Just like it used to be in my neighborhood: from all the tenements laundry hung window to window. All the poems are concerned with the incarcerated or the disenfranchised; they all communicate the sting from the backhand of the American promise. In what way does this term connect his experience as a prisoner to his experience as a Mexican American? It's all concentrated. Baca suggests parallels between life inside and outside of prison. The old men who have lived here stare at us, from deep disturbed eyes, sulking, retreated. Are these similarities good or bad?
